Don Lonsway captured the wolf today. Mr. Dykstra called and he was not happy that we plan to release the animal on site. I told him we don't have any choices in this matter and let him know we placed a GPS collar on the animal, which would allow us to direct hazing if it does return.

Don does plan on holding the animal in a crate until it his fully awake and then using cracker shell animal upon release. The last time we use this method the animal ended up leaving the State and went to Wisconsin.
